

Farewell

I want to be free
To fly so high
Like a little bird
And never say why

Go faraway places
Enjoy the sunrise
Stories of the simple and wise
Listen to the whisper of the wind
Discover the secrets of the sea
And roam the old blue sky

I wonder and wonder why
Have I waited so long
Before I could even cry
Let so many dreams grew old
Fade in the darkness
And slowly die

I want to forget the place
Where smog is so thick
It stuffs the nose
And blinds the eye
Where the air is wet
The road is wet
Men sweat, smell and smile

But hearts are dry

I want to walk alone at night

When the moon is full

And day dreaming is right

Where stars are shy

And clouds pace the sky

Where silence is longing

The air is soft and dry

Where dreams are born

To live forever happy

In every child's eye

I want to be a star

In a beautiful clear night

To shine and smile

And make all things right

For lovers to dance and embrace

With beauty and grace

And make shadows run

And hide their face

I want to be just me

Naked and free

For all people to see

Sing and dance

Whenever I have a chance

Read and write

Laugh and cry

And never say why
